Welcome Addresses from the Conference Chairs

Professor Yun-Hua Yang
Chair, Department of English, National Taipei University of Technology

It is my great pleasure to welcome all of you to the 2025 International Joint Conference of APLX, ETA34, and TESPA, held at the GIS Taipei Tech Convention Center. On behalf of the Department of English at National Taipei University of Technology (Taipei Tech), I extend my warmest greetings to all distinguished guests, invited speakers, paper and poster presenters, and participants from Taiwan and around the world.

APLX, a biennial conference hosted by the Department of English at Taipei Tech since 2008, has long served as a platform for scholars and educators from around the world to exchange ideas in applied linguistics. This year, we are honored to collaborate with the English Teachers' Association–Republic of China (ETA-ROC) and the Taiwan ESP Association (TESPA) in co-organizing this important event. Bringing together over 250 participants, the conference features a vibrant program of 108 paper and 17 poster presentations, 12 invited speeches, 6 workshops, and 2 panel discussions, showcasing the diversity and vitality of research and practice in English language education. The conference proceedings also serve as a valuable record of the scholarly contributions.

The theme of this year's conference, 'Re-imagining Human Empowerment in ELT for a Changing World,' reflects our shared vision to respond to global transformations in education, communication, and technology. We hope that this conference will provide a meaningful space for dialogue, where educators, researchers, and practitioners can share insights, explore innovations, and re-image new possibilities for English language teaching and learning.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to our partner associations, ETA-ROC and TESPA, for their support and close collaboration, and to our organizing committee for their dedication in bringing this conference to life. My appreciation also goes to all speakers and participants whose contributions make this gathering both intellectually stimulating and professionally rewarding.

Once again, welcome to Taipei Tech and to this year's joint conference. I wish you all an engaging and inspiring conference experience.

Yun-hua Yang
Chair of Department of English, Taipei Tech

Welcome Addresses from the Conference Chairs

Professor Andy Yiu-nam Leung
President, ETA-ROC

First of all, on behalf of the English Teachers' Association-Republic of China (ETA-ROC), I would like to express my warmest welcome to all of you who travelled near and far to attend this Conference.

Secondly, the 2025 APLX, ETA &TESPA International Joint Conference best epitomizes the fruitful results of and full collaboration between the Department of English, National Taipei University of Technology, ETA-ROC, and TESPA. Thematized on "Reimagining Human Empowerment in ELT for a Changing World," this three-day conference deals with various aspects of teaching and learning of the English language, ranging from Applied Linguistics, bilingual education, cross-cultural communication, and ESP to translation studies, pedagogy, technology integration, cross-cultural communication, and contemporary teaching methodologies. It undoubtedly provides a valuable platform for exchanging ideas and sharing insights between researchers as well as teachers, thus inspiring and empowering their classroom teaching.

Thirdly, a conference of this magnitude could not have been made possible without the high-quality presentations by local and foreign teaching professionals and language practitioners. I, therefore, would like to express my sincere thanks to them for their fine work. Last but not least, my heart-felt gratitude should go to the sponsors, and the faculty as well as staffs of the Department of English, in particular Eric Yen-Liang Lin, Yun-Hua Yang, Amy Hsin-I Chen, and Maggie Leung for their strenuous efforts to stage this significant and meaningful event.

Without further ado, let us enjoy the conference.

Yiu-nam Leung
President, ETA-ROC

Welcome Addresses from the Conference Chairs

Chien-lung Yang
President, Taiwan ESP Association

Welcome to the 2025 International Joint Conference of APLX, ETA34, and TESPA.

Under the theme "Reimagining Human Empowerment in ELT for a Changing World," this conference invites us to reflect on how English language education can better serve individuals, communities, and future generations. It brings together leading voices from applied linguistics, English language teaching, and translation studies to explore new ways of empowering both learners and educators in an era of global transformation.

From bilingual education to ESP, from pragmatics to corpus linguistics, this event celebrates the diversity and depth of our shared field. Together, we will consider how technology, cross-cultural communication, and evolving pedagogies continue to reshape English language education across classrooms, communities, and institutions worldwide.

As we engage with innovative research and practice, this conference offers more than the exchange of knowledge—it offers connection, reflection, and collaboration. It is an opportunity to shape the future of ELT with renewed purpose, creativity, and clarity.

Thank you for joining us in this collective endeavor. We look forward to the dialogues, insights, and inspiration that will emerge in the days ahead.

Chien-lung Yang
President, The Taiwan ESP Association (TESPA)

2026 CALL FOR PAPERS

ENG.SCU/ETA/TESPA Conference
ETA 35TH INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON ENGLISH TEACHING AND LEARNING

CONFERENCE THEME: Transformative English Education: Integrating Technology, Humanity and Sustainability

CONFERENCE DATES: November 14–15, 2026

VENUE: Chien Tan Activity Center, Taipei, Taiwan

ORGANIZERS:

- Department of English Language and Literature, Soochow University
- English Teachers' Association–Republic of China (ETA-ROC)
- Taiwan ESP Association (TESPA)

BACKGROUND

The 2026 ENG.SCU/ETA/TESPA Conference, themed Transformative English Education: Integrating Technology, Humanity and Sustainability, highlights the urgent need to rethink the purposes and practices of English language teaching in the 21st century. With rapid technological innovations reshaping communication, teaching and learning environments, and assessment, educators must explore how digital tools can enhance language acquisition while preserving humanistic values. Equally pressing are global concerns of equity, inclusion, and sustainability, which demand that English education move beyond functional skills to foster intercultural understanding, social responsibility, and ecological awareness. By bringing together perspectives from applied linguistics, pedagogy, technology, cultural studies, and translation and interpreting, this symposium aims to generate critical dialogues on how to integrate technological advancement with human-centered and sustainable approaches. It provides a platform for scholars and practitioners to share empirical research, pedagogical innovations, and policy insights, thereby contributing to a transformative vision of English education that is responsive to both local needs and global challenges.

TOP 10 Things To Do

01 Visit Distinctive Neighborhoods

Each of Taipei's shopping areas has its own character. Visiting Dadaocheng, Bangka, and Ximending, you can appreciate old buildings and traditional culture. The young generation has shown creativity here and reinterpreted local culture, giving old blocks an irresistible charm. Taipei's East District is the place to search for fashionable stores, with Taipei 101 and the Xinyi shopping area serving as bustling fashion hubs. The lanes and alleys of Yongkang Street, Nanxi Xinzhongshan shopping area and Chifeng Street are characterized by distinctive culture and small stores with unique style.

See Cultural & Creative Attractions 02

In Taipei, many old buildings have been given a new lease of life as cultural-creative design bases. Rongjin Gorgeous Time, originally a dormitory for prison officers during the Japanese era; Huashan 1914 Creative Park, once a winery factory; Songshan Cultural and Creative Park, a tobacco factory in the past; The Red House, a century-old market building, as well as old houses in Dadaocheng, have all been revived by cultural-creative businesses. Four Four South Village retains the appearance of an early military dependents' settlement. All these are great spots to find good design and exhibitions amidst the old-time charm.

03 Worship at Temples

Most of Taipei's early settlements developed around temples. Many of these have a long history, including Songshan Ciyou Temple, where a black-faced Mazu is worshipped; Bangka Longshan Temple, which is always busy; Taipei Xiahai City God Temple, where people pray for a happy family life; Dalongdong Baoan Temple, where worshippers pray for health; as well as Dadaocheng Cisheng Temple and Guandu Temple. These temples not only bear witness to the city's development, inside you will also find exquisite wood carvings, stone inscriptions, ceramic applique, and lifelike Buddha statues to admire.

Appreciate Art and Culture 04

If you want to admire classical Chinese culture, you should not miss the collections at the National Palace Museum. Among the most popular exhibits are the Jadeite Cabbage and the Meat-shaped Stone. If you fancy modern art, it's worth visiting the Taipei Fine Arts Museum, Museum of Contemporary Art, Treasure Hill Artist Village, SPOT Taipei Film House, Taipei Music Center, and Taipei Performing Arts Center. Also, in Gongguan Shopping District, you will find independent and second-hand bookshops. The Zhongshan Underground Book Street offers tens of thousands of books, and the cultural and creative market next door fills the space with an atmosphere of art.

05 Enjoy a Hot-Spring Bath

One of the best things about Taipei is that you can hop on the MRT and arrive in Beitou, known for its steaming hot spring water and lush greenery, in less than an hour. Hot-spring bathing in the area dates back to the Japanese era, which is why Beitou Hot Spring Museum and Beitou Museum are all rich in Japanese atmosphere. Taipei Public Library Beitou Branch's green building and the sulfuric steam wafting at Thermal Valley are also unique sights.

06 Drink Tea While Admiring the Scenery

Maokong is renowned for cultivating Wenshan Baozhong and Tieguanyin teas, offering a rare tea-country atmosphere within the city. The Maokong Gondola provides elevated views of the lush green mountain scenery and tea plantations. Visitors can stroll through the tea gardens along winding mountain trails, and relax at a teahouse to savor fine tea and tea-infused dishes. As the sun sets, the sparkling night view of Taipei unfolds. Beyond Maokong, the Nangang Tea Processing Demonstration Center offers an in-depth exploration of Taiwan's tea culture, featuring selected fine teas from across Taiwan and various experiential activities, inviting visitors to linger.

07 Explore the Starlight City

To discover the nighttime charms of Taipei, taking the Taipei Sightseeing Bus, a double-decker tourist bus service that tours the brightly lit city, is a great idea. For fun places to go with friends at night, the Container Market at Dadaocheng Wharf, the nightclubs of Xinyi shopping area, and cafés hidden away in lanes and alleys are perfect choices. For late-night snacks, visit night markets and try the recommendation of Michelin's Bib Gourmand, or you can find shops selling soymilk and rice porridge with side dishes and other delicious treats. Taipei also has a 24/7 bookstore where night owls can seek spiritual nourishment.

08 Enjoy Coffee in Distinctive Cafés

Visiting cafés is one of the best ways to get to know Taipei. Many old houses in Dadaocheng have been renovated and now the tempting aroma of fine coffee wafts out from within. Characterful cafés can also be found on Section 2 of Zhongshan North Road, Chifeng Street, Yongkang Street, Qingtian Street, Fujin Street, etc. Taipei's coffee culture has many charming faces, allowing you to enjoy coffee of exotic styles and appreciate distinctive designs. You can also visit cafés that offer family spaces, reading corners or creative design bases, adding extra dimensions to the coffee-drinking experience.

09 Visit The Riverside

The Tamsui and Keelung rivers gently embrace this city. Riverside parks are closely connected to people's lives, which are popular spots for early morning runs, nighttime cycling, and other leisure activities. They are also venues for a variety of activities in summer, attracting families and groups of friends to listen to concerts or to play by the water to cool down. Boat trips on the Tamsui River can be taken from Dadaocheng and Guandu Wharves, with the "blue highway" offering varied views of the city and riverbank scenery.

10 Have Fun Close to Nature

It's fairly easy to get to natural spots in Taipei. Just take a bus from Shilin to Yangmingshan National Park to view special volcanic terrain. Four Beasts Mountain Trail is suitable for leisure hiking and is also a good place to look out over Taipei and watch the New Year's Eve fireworks. There are various leisure farms in Shilin, Beitou, Neihu, and Wenshan districts that offer experiential activities such as strawberry and orange picking, allowing you to enjoy the fun of learning about ecology.

Taipei has a rich and diverse culinary scene featuring classic delicacies and vibrant street snacks. Innovative cuisine is readily available, and the city has garnered significant Michelin recognition. The Michelin Guide Taipei, first published in 2018, showcases Taipei's profound gastronomic heritage to the world and attracts numerous domestic and international food enthusiasts to explore this culinary capital.

Every foodie has a list of Taipei's must-eats. If you want to taste Michelin-starred international cuisines, you can't miss Le Palais, the Cantonese restaurant receiving three stars for consecutive years. Other star winners include The Guest House featuring Chinese cuisine, Japanese restaurant Iogy, French restaurant L'Atelier de Joël Robuchon, and the constantly innovating Taïroir. Yangming Spring and Mountain & Sea House, both awarded Michelin Green Stars for their spirits of sustainability, promise you culinary excellence with eco-friendliness.

In addition, under "Bib Gourmand", dozens of Taipei's street foods are recommended, from the famous stinky tofu, and xiaolongbao (small steamed dumplings), to the authentic beef noodles that is a favorite of Muslim visitors, and the cold noodles, luwei (soy-braised dishes), oyster omelette and heibaigie (platter with various sliced foods) on locals' dining tables every day. These authentic Taiwanese flavors are great choices for experiencing the culinary scene of Taipei.

Seasonal Events & Activities

Each season in Taipei—spring, summer, autumn, and winter—offers a distinct charm, accompanied by a vibrant calendar of events.

Spring days are filled with floating flower petals everywhere you go. The cherry-tree bloom is the headline act of Yangmingshan Flower Festival. The brilliant vignettes of azaleas bring touches of serenity to bustling neighborhoods. The visual purity and pastoral beauty of Zhuzihu Calla Lily & Hydrangea Festival wipe away the worries of daily life.

In summer, there are numerous exciting events staged in riverside parks. Taipei International Dragon Boat Championships, Taipei Water Festival, and Taipei Summer Festival at Dadaocheng are all events where the whole family can cool down in hot summer!

Yangmingshan Flower Festival

Taipei also bursts with activities during autumn. Taipei International Birdwatching Fair, Fun Guandu, Hot Spring Festival and Guandu International Nature Art Festival not only provide wonderful get-intimate-with-nature opportunities, but also incorporate the lives of locals. Trendy Taipei pulses with energy, showcasing the city's musical charm, while Nuit Blanche Taipei reimagines the night with its artistic performances.

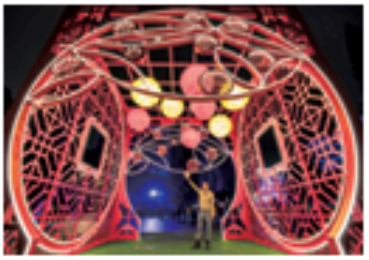

Taipei Marathon, Taipei Xmas, Gongguan Christmas, Taipei New Year's Party, Taipei Lunar New Year Festival and Taipei Lantern Festival all ignite the city's passion and warm vitality as well as infuse the year's ending with great colors.
